MEN ROASTED ALIVE. An Awful Disaster at a Funeral in New

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.-A "shop train" consisting of empty cars was moving through the Fourth avenue railroad tunnel at 7:10 a. m., Friday when it stopped at Eighty-fifth street. Behind it came train No. 10, the New Haven local that left the Grand Central depot at 7:02 a. m. The New Haven train ran into the standing "shop train," wrecking itself and the rear cars of the train with which it had come into collision. In a few moments flames broke out, and while everything was in terror and confusion a third engine, running "light," that is, without cars, crashed into the wreck. The fire was soon extinguished and the work of rescue began. Engineer Fowler, of the New Haven train, said that when at Seventysecond street he got the white signal, which was a signal to go ahead, there was no ringing of the bell, either, as is customary when the danger signal is up. He was running at the rate of about twenty miles an hour on the north-bound track. He was so close to the shop train before he was aware of it that he telescoped it before he was hardly able to put on the airbrakes. The shop train consisted of seven cars, including several sleepers that had come into the Grand Central Depot early in the morning, and were on the way to the repair

On the telescoped shop train there were probably a dozen or more employes, both of the road and of the Wagner Company. Six killed and seven wounded is the complete list. As soon as the flames were seen the party of rescuers sent an alarm to the fire company in Eighty-fifth street. The firemen responded promptly, and the burning cars. After the fire had been mastered the firemen axes tried to clear away the debris so as to be able to get at the bodies. It was finally decided to pull the two cars apart and the locomotive of the New Haven train, with a tear and crash, parted the two cars, drawing one of them about ten feet from the other. In a heap of burned cushions, wood and iron, the bodies were taken out and wrapped in blankets. They were then placed side by side on the south-bound track. The bodies were burned beyond recognition. Parts of some of the bodies were completely burned away. The list of the dead includes one man whose body is burned beyond recognition, supposed to be a colored sleeping-car porter; a woman, supposed to be Mrs. Nellie Supple, a car-cleaner, 40 years old; Hartshorn Killian, a trainboy, 25 years old; John Hancke, a carcleaner, 19 years old; John Murray, a laborer, 49 years old, burned to death and head and body badly charred, and James B. A REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN. The project for a separate prison for woman criminals, which has received favorable consideration during the past week by one of the Milwaukee associations for charitable work, is a matter worthy of commendation and assistance. The sentimental idea that female criminals ought to be treated with less severity than male criminals, is a foolish and unreasonable fad. Criminals are persons whose liberty of action is inconsistent with the welfare of society, and who ought therefore, to be deprived of such liberty, without regard to their sex, color or previous condition. If they are murderers they should the treated accordingly, and female thieves are no more desirable in society than males of

But there is a difference between the mental constitution of men and women, as between their respective physical constitutions, and in case where reform is practicable there should be a difference between the methods undertaken in the case of sutjects belonging to one sex from those which might be useful in dealing with the other. But above all it is desirable to isolate to the purpose of preventing the propagation of cirme by such an association as is morally certain to intensify the crimmal tendency on both sides.

No one will hardly deny that a separate prison for females would be they were allowed to take a look much more desirable than the system at the casket. After a short stop which now commits the criminals of both sexes to the same institution. Inasmuch passing many small way stations where as a new prison is necessary, why not spend the fifty thousand dollars in establishing a separate prison for females at some other point than Waupun? The present number of females in the state prison is only sixteen, while the department designed for them will accommodate four times that many. The females n the Milwankee house of correction could also be removed to the new reformatory, which would make room for the

MANY BILLS WILL FAIL. There Are About 1,300 Measures Which

Congress Will Be Unable to Act Upon Before the Session Closes. WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.-At the close of this Congress there will be in the neighborhood of 1,300 bills on the calendar of the House which have been favorably reported, but which will fail for want of time for their consideration. Some of the appropriation bills will probably be signed within an hour of the time of final adjournment, and it may be, as has often occurred, that the hands of the clock will have to be turned back to prevent the failure of an appropriation bil.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. - The Senate after transaction of routine morning business proceeded to the consideration of pension bills unobjected to. There were 130 pension bills passed in forty-five minutes. Among them one increasing the penof Brigadier-General Landrem, of Kentucky, to $50. The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Nicaragua canal bill (giving the guaranty of the United States Government to the company's 4 per cent. bonds to the amount of $100,000,000). Discussion of the measure occupied the rest of the session, and without action the Senate adjourned.

The House adopted a resolution calling on the Attorney-General for information as to what instructions have been given by him with regard to the institution and prosecution of any suits under the act to enforce the rights of citizens to vote in the several States. Mr. Cannon (Ill.), from the committee on rules, reported a resolution for the immediate consideration of business reported by the committee on the udiciary—the first bill to be taken up to be the bill for the relief of the Supreme Court, with Senate amendments. and next the bill to fix the salaries of United States Judges. On the question of its passage Democrats rose in a body and left the hall. The resolution was agreed to-yeas, 155; nays, 4-a quorum being noted. The bill was taken up, and the Senate amendment being concurred in, a conference was ordered. The rest of the session was devoted to the bill fixing salaries of United States District Judges.

LEIGH, Neb., Feb. 21.-The entire community was aroused Friday over a bloody tragedy in the family of William McCubbin, a wealthy stockman. which resulted in the husband blowing his wife's brains out, shooting his hired man, Frank Yots, to death and cutting his own throat. The crime was committed as the result of a vague rumor that Yots was too intimate with Mrs. McCubbin. After the double murder McCubbin called his little 5-year-old daughter, who asked for General Howard. But be- had witnessed the affair, and giving ma again. When the frightened child departed the frenzied man seized a butcher knife and nearly severed his head from the body. The murderer's corpse was found an hour later lying across those of his victims who had fallen on the floor. A shotgun and revolver were used to do the bloody work. The gun charge tore the wife's face to pieces, and the five revolver shots were fired into the body of the hired man. Yots was an ignorant fellow, and the suspicions entertained by the husband concerning his wife's infidelity were considered in the county as entirely ungrounded. Laziness the Foe of Originality. The great enemy to individualism i laziness, and those who know anything of human frailties will, I am sure, bear me out when I say that "mental" lazi ness is far more common and far more difficult to overcome than that of the body. It is so much easier to accept dogmatic teaching, and to shift the re sponsibility of our views on to others. rather than to concentrate our thoughts and work out the lessons of our own observations; it is more pleasant to butterfly from theory to theory than to seek truth with patient tenacity; why trouble ourselves to learn self reliance when natural indolence protests against he sacrifice? It is easier to imitate than to origi nate; plagiarism and mimicry are such prominent features in our lives that their presence might almost be quoted as an argument in favor of our evolu tion in past ages from simian ancestry. How plausible are the excuses we make for our want of this individualism! We are so dreadfully afraid of being thought bumptious, we are so delight fully humble, we really do not wish to mtrude our opinion, and yet all the brightest lights of our profession have been men of strong individualism. -M. Tumble Weeds Stopped the Train. DR. S. B. HARTMAN.

Probably most readers have seen or heard of the tumble weed, but for the benefit of any who has not it may be said that it is a bushy plant growing eighteen inches to two feet in height, having a small root and the branches all curving inward at the top, giving the full grown weed a globular shape. These weeds grow and flourish on summer fallowed lands in parts of eastern Oregon, and especially along the line of the Oregon and Washington Territory, railroad between Hunt's June tion and Pendleton. In the fall, when the summer fallow is seeded, the harrows tear up these weeds, but as they are tough and wiry and are not broken up much they lie around on the fields like balls.

The first wind starts the balls rolling, and away they go for the first fence or railroad cut. The line above men tioned is not fenced, and some time ago these weeds piled into the cuts on i about Helix, in some places as high as the headlight of the engine, and on account of their being crushed under the wheels and "greasing" the track they held a train loaded with stock all night on the line. A gentleman who was on the train says that the weeds coming skipping over the banks into a cut in the dusk of evening looked for all the world like a band of sheep following their leader into the cut.-Portland Oregonian.

When Bagpipes Had No Charms. An amusing episode recorded of the Peninsular war seems to prove that even the charms of our beautiful national bagpipes fail to soothe these savage beasts! It happened that, while one of the Highland regiments was marching across a desolate part of Spain, one of the pipers for some inexplicable reason found himself separated from his comrades. Halting on a lonely plain, he sat down to eat his breakfast, when to his horror he saw wolves approaching. When they came very near he flung them all the food he had with him, fully conscious, however, that his meager meal would not stay their advance for many seconds.

With the calmness of desperation h tnen said, "As ye've had the meat ye'll hae the music, too," and thereupon he proceeded to "blow up his chanter." No sooner did his unwelcome guests hear the first "skirl" of the pipes than they turned in wild terror and fled as fast as their long legs would carry them. "De'il hae ye!" said the piper: "had I thocht ye were so fond o' the music ye wad hae gotten it afore meat instead o' after!" Then hungrily he went his way, not forgetting from time to time to blow a blast so wild and shrill as might effectually scare any prowling foes. —Temple Bar.

Juggling Is Easy.

These things are really very easy, them perfect. I always juggle with common things of everyday use, beyour first attempt use small brass balls, and start them with your left hand. This is because the left hand is naturally the clumsier of the two, and it all the credit to Pe-ru-ns. takes longer practice to make it perfect. When you learn to keep two or three balls in the air at once try knives. Now, this is the way I keep the knives going. just sufficient force to give it a half turn; the next one turns completely over, the third takes a turn and a half, the fourth two turns, the fifth two and a half, and so on. SOME FACIS ABOUT CATARRE

The lining membranes of the nose and throat being most exposed to the air are usually the first to become affected by Catarrh. As soon as the Catarrh becomes seated either in the Lose or throat it begins slowly to spread to other parts. Numerous passages open into the pharnyx or upper throat; and as they are all ined with the same mucous membrane which lire the pharpyx, the catarrh can easily find its way to almost any part of the body. It may go upwards into the middle ear and cause dearness, or into the frontal sinuses and cause constant frontal headache. The Catarrh may go downwards through the cosophagus into the stomach and cause dyspepsia, or through the larynx, traches and bronchial tubes to the 'ungs, causing hoarseness, loss of voice, chronic cough, brenchitis and consumption.

Whatever course the Catarrh takes disease remains the same, and a remedy that can be relied on to cure it in one. place can also be relied on to cure it in all places. Pe-ru-na seeks out at once the deranged parts and restores the diseased and fishby mucous membrane to health and elasticity. Pe-ru-na is a natural topic to the capillary blood vessels. which are weakened or destroyed by catarrh. Here are two ceses in which the catarrh had already reached the middle doer):

Mrs. Frederick Bierman, of McComb Oty Miss, had Chronic Catarrb very badly for many years. The disease finally passed up the eustachian tube into the middle ear, and had almost destroyed his hearing. He has been taking Peru-na but for a short time, and his Catarrh is very much better, and he hears again as well as any one.

Mr. W. D. Stokes, Baton Rouge, La. writes: "I have had Ohronic Catarrh very bacly, noise in the ears and nearly deaf. I used your Pe-ru-na according to directions, and am now well; can hear the tick of a watch ten feet. Your Pe-ru-na is a wonderful medicine."

The following case illustrates the dreadful condition which Chronic Catarrh of throat and head can produce. and the utter failure of the ordinary treatment to bring any relief.

SHELLSBURG. BEDFORD, Co., Pa. Peruus Medicine C .- I was a sufferer from catarrh in my head and throat. I doctored with one of the best physicians in our place for that terrible disease, and found no relief. But in 1883 I lost my speech, and was not able to do any kind of work for nearly three months. I could neither eat nor sleep. Pe-ru-na did wonders for me, and now I am in better health than I have been in ten years.

Yours truly, ISAAC NICODREMUS. No remedy can equal Pe-ru-na in cases where the Catarrh has already attacked said a juggler in an uptown museum to he lungs, as in the following case:

a reporter. "Practice alone makes Mrs. J. W. Reynolds, of New Lisbon, Columbiana county. Obto, says she has suffered with congestion of the lange, catairh in the head, and was troubled cause then the people go home and try with a bad cough. She had tried a numto do it themselves. In this way they ber of physicians, but they all failed to realize how very difficult an apparently cure her. She was induced to try Peeasy trick really is. When you make rnns, and immediately a marked change took place. After using Pe-ra-na her cough ceased, and in a short time her other aliments were cured. She is now completely restored to health, and gives

And so now as party defendant he finds himself associated with some of the Rothschilds and leading business men of Beloit. The new suit is based upon disclosures made case, and will be vigorously contested.

FDITOR GAZETTE-I have noticed a paragraph in county papers stating that a number of farmers in Rock county intended sowing Canada peas for feed as a field crop. I would like to say right here that I bought some Canada peas last week in Edgerton that had Canada thistle burrs and seed amongst them, therefore, I warn farmers to be very careful or they will raise a crop of thistles as well as reas. In my travels through Canada and York state, I saw thousands of acres of Canada thistles, and so thick in some localities that they cannot raise crops or any kind. I will here try to describe them as near as I can. The burr or head that holds the seed is from 1/4 to % inch in length and 1/4 to 1/4 inch in diameter of dark grayish color. The seed is about half the size of flax seed and af a lightish brown color. Farmers. you may think this a big story, but never theless it is true. I visited several farmers in Canada and they took me into their graineries and showed me their grain in the bin s and two-thirds was thistle burrs and seed. Now, I warn you farmers against sowing seed of any kind that comes from Canada without a thorough examination. Canada has a grudge against us and we would just as soon pay us with thistles anything else. SAMUEL MARSDEN.

"You can plainly state," said one of the parties interested in the Spring Brook improvement, "that unless the required amount necessary to build the bridge is pledged by individual subscriptions, the bridge will never be built. All should give something. Why, we have received five and ten doller subscriptions from men who earn their money shoveling dirt, and I am surprised that many of the property owners on that street are so slow in giving it aid. Unless we get the full estimated amount pledged the bridge will not be built, and it will be a long time before another attempt is made to secure a bridge at that point."

Why It Is Called "North" River. I overheard Chauncey M. Depew, at he Fifth Avenue hotel the other evenng, explaining to some friends from he country the difference between the North and the East river. 'Probably not one New Yorker in a thousand can account for the fact that we have an East and a North river instead of an East and a West river. The explanation is found in the fact that the Hudson was originally called the North river to distinguish it from the Delaware, which was familiarly known as the 'South river' among the early colonists. While the latter has become obsolete as a designation, the former is still in current use, although there is more charming to both eye and ear. -New York Star.
